

COMIC STORY ARC

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 2007

The Battle for Wonderland and defending the power of White imagination continues.

SEEING REDD

Writer: Frank Beddor

Artwork: Vance Kovacs (Front, Back cover, part 1 art)

Artwork: Steven Martiniere (Part 2 & 3 art)

Map design: Cold Open and Nate Barlow

The landmark sequel to the Looking Glass Wars will have the reader “Seeing Redd.”

By John L. Daniels Jr.

While growing up one may have a family member, which you may not get along with, or they are not as sociable with the family as the other relatives. What if the family member was someone you trusted cared for you, who was close to your mother, so close it was your mother’s sister, your Aunt.

Your aunt is supposed to be the one who can take care of you and help your mother, when she needs help, nurture you, guides, and even lend a helping hand in teaching.

How disturbing would it be if she is the very one that wants you annihilated?

This happens and more in the sequel to the looking glass wars “SEEING REDD”

In the first book the Looking Glass Wars Alyss escapes from Wonderland with her bodyguard Hatter Madigan. Alyss returns and defeats her Aunt and banished her and her assassin, The Cat into the Heart Crystal.

In this sequel, The Aunt escapes the prison of the crystal maze within the Heart Crystal. Now with the return of Aunt Redd who wants Alyss dead, Aunt Redd has the ultimate plan to recapture the throne of Wonderland. Aunt Redd has already killed Alyss’s loving parents and only Alyss remains of royal heritage to the throne, unless Aunt Redd can find her, and carry out her sinister plan to rule Wonderland once more as the last heir to the throne. Can Alyss keep control of her queendom along with her new bodyguard Homburg Molly? In addition, where is Hatter Madigan? He has not been seen anywhere in the surrounding lands of Wonderland.

Astonishing reading waits with strong characterizations, thrilling adventure, and mystery in this extraordinary tale for the battle of Wonderland. Follow the glow and forever be amazed and enthralled with the new novel "Seeing Redd."

This incredible book is written by Frank Beddor. The incredible success of his first novel the Looking Glass Wars is a best-selling book on the NY-Times bestseller list. Mr. Beddor also has written an award-winning comic book based from the novel; Hatter M by Desperado publishing and Image comics. What can this successful Hollywood producer possibly accomplish next?

I had an opportunity to interview Mr. Beddor with the Launch of the comic Hatter M and The United States launch of the novel the looking glass wars. Now here is a new interview with a modern day genius about his new novel "Seeing Redd"